Supervisors Recognize Two Derry Township Recipients of the Dauphin County Premier Planning Award

Supervisor Marc Moyer, Supervisor John Foley, Supervisor Kelly Fedeli, Legislative Aide to Representative Payne and HCAR Board Member Todd Pagliarulo, Director of Community Development Chuck Emerick, Supervisor Sandy Ballard, Executive Director of HCAR Jack Atchason, Director of Real Estate for the Hershey Trust Ken Gall, and Chairman Chris Abruzzo

The Derry Township Supervisors recognized the efforts of the Derry Township Comprehensive Plan Volunteer Work Group and the Hershey Center for Applied Research at their January 22nd meeting, for receiving the Dauphin County Premier Planning Award. The awards were presented by the Dauphin County Commissioners and the Dauphin County Planning organizations, and facilitating "listening sessions" to give the residents, business owners, institutions, and stakeholders a voice on how the Township should grow and what it should look like in the next ten to twenty years.

"This award is a tribute to the hard work and commitment of the members of our comprehensive plan review committee. Derry Township should be proud of its citizen volunteers and the first rate quality of the plan they drafted for the Board of Supervisors," said Chairman Chris Abruzzo.

Supervisor Sandy Ballard, a member of the work group said, "This low-cost, grass-roots effort was made possible by volunteers who spent countless hours drafting a community survey, gathering information, and meeting with the public, and community members who participated in the process, shared ideas, and provided useful feedback. Now, it's time to take that community-based Vision of a more walkable town and make it into a reality."

The Hershey Center for Applied Research received an award for Sustainable Growth for the innovative development and operation of their center. HCAR opened in 2007 as a place to foster innovation and growth for businesses of all types. During development, special care was taken to preserve the 100 year old floodplain's habitat for native plants, as well as restore a historic farmhouse on the property, now renovated into a restaurant for employees. As part of the development a bike trail was relocated onto the property as well as a child care center for working parents. The site is also the host to the Hershey Farmer's Market. The Center continues to expand, offering mixed use facilities for research, lab and office space.

"It is our vision to create a fully functioning community where businesses can develop and grow, and where their employees can network and collaborate," said Director Jack Atchason. "We believe that is 'sustainable growth' in the truest sense of the term."

"The Hershey Center for Applied Research is an innovative addition to the community and is beneficial to the local economy," commented Chairman Abruzzo.

Commission on January 15, 2013.

This new award program was created to acknowledge projects in Dauphin County that aid communities in their planning decisions, promote smart growth and spark revitalization.

Derry Township received the award in the Community Capacity category for their efforts to develop a vision statement that encompasses the values of its community members while embracing smart growth principles to guide the update to the Township's comprehensive plan. The vision statement is a pro-active guide on what the community wants for the future and how it wants to achieve it.

The Comprehensive Plan Volunteer Work Group, a committee comprised of Township supervisors, Planning Commission members and staff and representatives of the resident and working community, such as the Hershey entities, senior citizens, school district, medical center, civic and environmental groups and developers, worked for over a year conducting a community survey, meeting with

A Report

from Chris Abruzzo, Chairman of the Board of Construction

There Is a Light at the End of the Tunnel!

If I have learned anything over the last five years as a member of the board of supervisors, it is that no matter how well you try to plan construction projects, they are dirty, inconvenient, and seem to last forever. The infrastructure improvements are overdue and much needed and will serve our community well when finished, but they have also been, at times, dreadfully painful to live through. During the last year, we were challenged and frustrated with the multitude of utility company road projects, the township's road and intersection improvement projects, and the stormwater system upgrades. Many of these projects came to fruition at the same time, some purposely and some not, but all having an impact on the quality of life of many residents.

But.....THE END IS IN SIGHT!

A majority of the work has been completed with the finishing stages delayed due to the colder temperatures.

PA American Water Company is finishing the installation of line on Areba Avenue with service lines in the area of Valley Road and Ridge Road. The utility cuts will be brought up to the existing pavement on Areba Avenue and the roadway will be recycled and a overlay will be applied in the Spring.

PA Power and Light has finished the installation of conduits in the area of Mill Street and will complete work in the area of North Hockersville Road, east to North Mill Street in the next week, weather permitting. We will see them working on pulling wire in the manholes and making connections.

The Storm Water Project has been completed on Cocoa Avenue and is progressing to Cherry Drive with the sanitary sewer work ahead of the storm installation. The final phase of storm pipe installation has begun in the area of Old West Chocolate Avenue and will follow the same path as the sanitary installation across SR 422, along Mill Street, across Hockersville Road, and onto Cherry, in the coming months. A wearing course has been placed on Cocoa Avenue from Valley Road to 6th Street.

When the temperature warms, a base course will be laid on Cocoa Avenue by the Cocoa Motel and CocoaPlex.

The pedestrian tunnel under Chocolate Avenue is now open and the median islands have been constructed. The roadwork on Cocoa Avenue and Chocolate Avenue is done, with the final pavement to be placed in the Spring. Work is now being done on the pedestrian underpass beneath Park Avenue.

As for the new bridge on Park Avenue, the subsurface soil compaction required for the north and south bridge abutments have been completed and excavation for the north bridge abutment is underway.

We have a lot to look forward to this summer. Warm weather is right around the corner and all of the inconveniences and mess caused by these upgrades will be behind us. Thank you for your patience while this important work was being done. The entire board of supervisors appreciates how tolerant our residents have been throughout these projects.

We have recently applied to the Dauphin County Department of Community & Economic Development for a Community Development Block Grant to finance further improvements to the stormwater system in the area of Locust Lane and Java Avenue. Expansion of the project into this area will alleviate flooding that has affected homeowners during heavy rainfalls. We were not able to include these locations in our original stormwater upgrades, but we are cautiously optimistic that we will be awarded these grant funds in time for the project design to be completed in 2013, with the construction taking place in 2014. Because of the location of these projects, they should cause minimal inconvenience to residents but will prevent significant flooding damage to residents in the affected neighborhoods.

Finances

Our focus last year was to work towards restoring the township's cash reserve fund that was depleted by the the poor economy, the devastating hurricane damage, stormwater upgrades and intersection improvements. The reserve fund serves as a savings account that is utilized for unexpected expenses and to pay bills in the beginning of each year until tax revenue is received. The township was able to bring the reserve up to almost $2,000,000 since last year thru continued frugality and maximum efforts to obtain grant funds to pay for construction projects. It is our goal to continue to add to this reserve fund each year to restore a fund balance of $4 million.

The Department of Community Development will increase their efficiency with software that will effectively manage a variety of data associated with the the department's approximate 12,950 property files, while allowing the Code Enforcement Officers to access this information remotely, and also enter updates and print certificates, permits, or violations on-site. This software will be of great value when the new Tenant/Landlord Ordinance, which will require owner's of rental properties to register with the township and to undergo an annual property inspection, is adopted.

The Township remains in a hiring freeze and will only fill positions that become vacant when they are deemed essential positions. Annual reviews for cost savings are performed for health care, workers' compensation, property, liability insurances, and utilities.

The Township's Bond rating is AA+, which is an indication of our excellent financial stability and long-term outlook. While we have faced challenges over the last several years, we are financially secure, remain service strong, and have made remarkable improvements to the infrastructure.

2013 Board of Supervisors Meeting Schedule

The meetings begin at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building, 600 Clearwater Road, Hershey. There is time set aside for public comments at the beginning and the end of the meeting. If you have an issue that you think the Township can assist you with, please call the Township at 533-2057, or come to a meeting to talk to the staff and Supervisors.

Community Development's New Assistant Director

Brandon Williams joined the Department of Community Development on May 14, 2012, as the assistant director. Prior to accepting the position with Derry, he was the Zoning and Codes Enforcement Officer with Mount Joy Township since 2007.

His experience rewriting Mount Joy's zoning and subdivision and land development ordinance and his degree in regional planning have been an asset in working towards achieving Derry's goals.

Brandon has been surprised by the number of permits, plans and projects that the Township reviews on an annual basis. He said that the number of permits alone is more than double what he reviewed in Mount Joy.

He said, "The residents that I have met have been very welcoming. I am pleased by the amount of public participation and interest in the future of Derry Township, particularly the Comprehensive Plan update process. Being a part of this project and performing the research needed to assist in drafting the first couple of chapters has really helped me understand the history of Hershey. The pride in the community is evident in so many of the residents that I have talked with. I am looking forward my part in this process and also meeting more of the residents of the Township."

Brandon resides in South Lebanon Township in Lebanon County. He received a Bachelor of Arts in Geography Environmental Studies and graduated with honors from Millersville University. He obtained a Master of Science in Community and Regional Planning from Temple University, and recently successfully completed his American Institute of Certified Planners.

Director Chuck Emerick said, "Brandon has been a great match for the department's needs. His talents and experience are tailored to the work that we are doing on the Comprehensive Plan."

Lion's Club Officer of the Year Detective Tom Pavone

Pavone, by popular vote of his peers, was named the Lion's Club Officer of the Year. He was presented with the award at an honorary dinner held at the Hershey Italian Lodge on January 15th.

Detective Pavone was hired by the Derry Township Police Department in April, 1999. Chief Patrick O'Rourke said, "Tom has always done an outstanding job. This award is a very fitting selection that reflects Tom's commitment to his family, the organization and the Dauphin County Crisis Response Team."

Pavone is a graduate of Penn State University where he received a Bachelor of Science in Administration of Justice. He began his career in law enforcement with the Susquehanna Regional Police Department while also working part-time for Mount Joy Borough.

He became a member of the Dauphin County Crisis Response Team as soon as he met the time requirements and became eligible in 2003. He moved to the Criminal Investigative Unit to be a detective in January 2012. He is also a former D.A.R.E. instructor.

Tom resides in Hummelstown with his wife Laura and their three children.

2013 Brings a New Code Enforcement Officer to Derry

Darrin Robinson is the new Code Enforcement Officer with Derry Township. He has filled the position that was vacant due to the departure of Don Fure, who accepted a position with Lower Swatara Township.

Darrin was a Building and Code Official and Zoning Officer for Londonderry Township for two years and served as the Fire Marshal for Swatara Township for ten years, where he also was the Fire Chief for five volunteer fire companies.

Darrin's strong work ethic, desire for a more dynamic and challenging role, and opportunity for personal and professional growth attracted him to Derry Township.

"Darrin not only brings residential building code certifications to his position, but also a vast knowledge of emergency management skills that will prove to be a great compliment to the department," said Director Chuck Emerick.

Volunteers Start a TNR (Trap/Neuter/Release) Program to Help to Control the Feral Cat Population in Derry Township

Unspayed and unneutered stray cats cause a severe problem that results in more cats than rescue organizations can handle. Most shelters are full and unable to take more cats by late spring.

Volunteers recently launch a TNR (Trap/Neuter/Release) Program with assistance from the Derry Township Police Department and Steelton Borough's Community Cat program. Steelton's program has successfully neutered hundreds of cats. Since the program began in Derry in December, 2012, 60 cats were neutered. According to the ASPCA, one unspayed cat may produce 14 kittens in a year. Assuming all those cats live and reproduce at that same rate, there are 203 cats by year two, and 2,754 cats by year three, all from one unspayed female. Using cat math, Derry's program has already prevented the birth of thousands of kittens.

"We want to assist the Derry volunteer group in getting the program up and running to effectively control and diminish the feral cat population in the Township," said Lt. Garth Warner.

"This issue should be handled in the most humane way possible, which is why the SBCC program is so appealing to our efforts. Their program is very successful. The Township also sees the potential to reduce costs and manpower, which is currently expended on this issue."

Unlike many TNR programs, the Steelton model that Derry is imitating is full-service. Volunteers trap the cats, take them to the Steelton facility until the spay/neuter day, provide the surgery, vaccines and other medical care, and then provide three days of convalescence before returning the cats to their original location.

TNR has been proven to be the best way to reduce the size of feral colonies in the long run. Relocating or euthanizing colonies simply creates a vacuum for new colonies to move in, but TNR programs prevent the pregnancies that cause colonies to grow. Backed by organizations such as the Humane Society of the United States, the ASPCA, and most rescue groups, TNR programs are the most effective and humane way to control community cat populations. Not only do TNR programs effectively control the cat population, they also save money and eliminate the yowling and fighting that most often comes from cats mating, and the spray odor (most often from testosterone in cat urine) is also reduced.

Derry Township residents can take advantage of this free program that will trap, spay or neuter feral cats, and help staunch the flow of unwanted cats in the community by calling 877-4146.

The program is free to Derry Residents, but accepts support through donations, products and time. Tax-deductible donations can be made to SBCC at <http://steeltoncats.org/donate.html>. Please note "Derry TNR" on the comments line of the PayPal form. A $10 donation provides one cat with vaccinations and medical care.

Cat Math

1 Cat + 1 Cat
= 14 Cats

Mating season for cats begins in late winter.

One unspayed stray cat may have two or even three litters a year, with perhaps four kittens in each litter, and before the end of the season the kittens that live may also produce kittens themselves.

Paper towels, bleach, cat litter, wet and dry cat food, plastic drop cloths, shower curtain liners, boxes of plastic gloves, disposable puppy training pads, flashlights, clean used sheets and towels, cat litter boxes, and newspaper are always needed and can be dropped off on the front or back porch of 518 W. Chocolate Avenue, Hershey.

Volunteers are being recruited to help to trap, transport, and feed the cats while they are at the surgery center. Please contact Tammy McElfresh at tmcfresh@comcast.net, if you can give some of your time to the program. Training will be provided.

Spring is the perfect time to clean and get organized.

Shred It Event

The next Shred It Event will be held on Saturday, April 13th from 8 am until 11 am, at the Public Works Facility, 650 Clearwater Road. Shredding is the safest way to protect your personal information. Residents may bring up to 4 bags or boxes to be shredded.

Be Safe

Fire The Hershey Volunteer Fire Department reminds residents that matches and lighters are the leading cause of fire deaths for children. Never underestimate a child's curiosity; always keep matches and lighters out of the reach of children. Store them up high, where they cannot be seen, and in a locked cabinet. Never use lighters or matches as a source of amusement for children, as they may imitate what you do. Never leave matches or lighters in a place where children may go without supervision. Only use lighters designed with child resistant features, but remember that child resistant does not mean child proof.

Bikers and Pedestrians Warm weather means that drivers need to share the road with more bikers and pedestrians. Please watch for people near crosswalks and intersections. Give bike riders four feet of space when passing them. Drive slower in residential areas, where children are likely to be out playing. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration warns us of the risks of speed. If you hit a pedestrian driving 20 mph, 5% will die. At 30 mph, 45% will die; and at 40 mph, 85% will die.

Biking Bikers should always ride with traffic to increase their visibility, reduce the speed of a potential crash, observe road signs and signals that are oriented toward traffic, and to obey the law and follow the same laws as motorists.

Curb and Sidewalk Replacement Program and Road Repairs

The Township once again is offering residents the opportunity to participate in the annual Curb and Sidewalk Program. Through the program, residents receive a lower price to replace their curbs and sidewalks through a collective proposals for all interested residents from one contractor. The Township seeks proposals based on the replacement quantity for all residents who express a desire to participate in the program.

When proposals are received, the participating residents are notified of the cost and have the option of withdrawing from the program or having the work completed. Residents interested in learning more, or participating, please call the Public Works Department at 533-2057, option 4, by April 12th.

Last year, many utility projects were underway, negatively affecting Township roadways. The Public Works Department will recycle and repave these roadways beginning in May. Intersection ramp upgrades will occur where needed, followed by cold in-place recycling of the existing pavement and then a 2" asphalt wearing course will be applied. The streets tentatively scheduled include: East Caracas, East Granada and Para Avenues, Linden Road from Valley to Elm and West Areba Avenue from Linden Road to Mill Street.

Waste Matters in Derry Township

The Environmental Action Committee explains the negative effects of using disposable plastic water bottles.

According to the Earth Policy Institute, Americans drank an average of 1.6 gallons of bottled water a year in 1976. Assuming it's a 12 oz bottle, that would be 17 bottles a year. Today, Americans buy nearly a billion bottles of water every single week (51 billion bottles every year). That's an average of more than three bottles per week for every man, woman, and child in the country or nearly 160 bottles a year, costing 240 to 10,000 times more than tap water, which is delivered right to the home for pennies a gallon.

Bottled water creates its own share of pollution. The production of plastic bottles consumes barrels of oil each year and transportation of bottled water from its source to retail stores releases thousands of tons of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere. After all that water is gone, only a small percentage of these 51 billion empty bottles are recycled annually. The rest end up in landfills, or worse. Drinking two liters of tap water a day costs only 50 cents per year.

An unknown percentage of water bottles end up as litter along highways, in vacant fields, and in the regular trash. Most water bottles used in the United States end up in landfills. As plastic bottles decay, they can leach harmful chemicals into the ground, potentially polluting the soil and water.

Only about 22% of plastic water bottles used in the United States are recycled. The ones that are recycled are sorted, placed on a conveyor, crushed and bundled for shipment. Specialized companies buy these bundles, chop them into flakes and sell the flakes to companies that produce recycled plastic goods. With a little effort, a lot more recycled plastic could be available as a raw material, extending the life of the oil that was used originally.

Some of the specialized companies make soft plastics needed for reusable shopping bags, tarps and other flexible products. Other companies make hard plastics used in automotive parts, plastic lumber for decking and park benches, railroad ties, furniture, more water bottles, or other household products. There also are companies that produce fibers -the flakes are melted into a liquid, spun into filament as thin as hair, and used to produce wall coverings, fleece clothing, blankets, luggage, bags, carpets and rugs. A one-ton container of flake holds an estimated 20,000 processed water bottles - enough to create fiber to make about 500 T-shirts.

For those facing an emergency like hurricanes Katrina or Sandy, single serving water bottles can be a blessing indeed. But other options provide a better environmental choice for every day. Whatever option you choose for water supply, proper disposal of the container can and must be your choice for the environment and for future generations.

Time for a Party! Hershey's Anniversary Celebrations

Hershey loves to celebrate. Over its history, our community has celebrated milestones with parades, concerts, baseball games, picnics and fireworks.

2013 marks another milestone in Hershey's history. One hundred and ten years ago Milton Hershey returned to this area to construct a new chocolate factory. While the area he chose to build was very rural, it presented Mr. Hershey with the opportunity to build a brand new town along with the chocolate factory. His business boomed and so did the town.

In 1913, a huge celebration was planned to mark the town's first ten years. The celebration was held on Friday and Saturday, May 30-31, 1913. In preparation, all the public buildings were draped in bunting and American flags lined Chocolate Avenue. Each day, at 7 a.m., the town awoke to the sound of whistles, firecrackers, drums and other noisemakers.

To start the celebration, the anniversary committee delivered a commemorative loving cup to Milton Hershey at his home, High Point. Immediately following the presentation, crowds gathered in the fields by Hershey Park to watch a demonstration of airplane stunt flying. Afterwards, residents and employees and their families gathered along Chocolate Avenue for "Hershey's Big Parade." Featuring 45 floats, the parade included 1,500 participants, hundreds more than the entire population of Hershey!

The rest of the day was filled with concerts, public lectures, theatre performances and a baseball game. The second day was filled with similar events and concluded with a "Big Display of Fireworks" and a concert by the Hershey Band. Huge crowds came to Hershey to join in the celebration. On Friday alone, an estimated 30,000 people came to enjoy the festivities.

The next anniversary Hershey celebrated was its 20th in 1923. Organizers, perhaps remembering the crush of people who overwhelmed Hershey during the 1913 celebration, decided to take a different approach to celebrating Hershey's 20th anniversary. Residents decorated their homes with flags and bunting. Hershey Park was decorated with thousands of colored electric lights.

Instead of the revelry and chaotic activity that accompanied the 10th anniversary celebration, organizers planned a very different event for the 1923 anniversary. Two nationally acclaimed musical groups performed during the two-day celebration, June 16-17, 1923. On Saturday, June 16, the Bethlehem (PA) Choir performed twice in the Convention Hall to capacity crowds and hundreds more gathered outside the windows to listen to the concert. The Great Creator's Band also presented two concerts in the Bandshell on Saturday and again on Sunday.

In recognition of the town's 20th anniversary, Milton Hershey arranged for a roller coaster to be built in Hershey Park. Opening on Saturday, June 16, the roller coaster [soon to be known as the "Wild Cat"] was an immediate success. The newspaper reported that the coaster was thronged with riders, some of whom had to be "dislodged by use of a crowbar, in order to give others a chance." The entire park was filled to overflowing. Over 50,000 people participated in the two-day celebration.

Hershey's first two anniversary celebrations were so successful that it was inevitable the community's 30th birthday would be recognized. Coming during the depths of the Great Depression, the celebration was more modest in scale.

Held over Labor Day weekend, September 1-3, 1933, the 30th anniversary celebration began with the dedication of the newly completed Hershey Community Theatre. Organ concerts for children and adults, stage shows and movie presentations were some of the highlights of the weekend.

Celebratory events were also held in Hershey Park. The Allentown Band presented free concerts in the Bandshell on Sunday and Monday afternoons and Hershey Park Ballroom patrons danced to nationally known big bands both Saturday and Monday nights.

The celebration also included the launch of the Hershey Open, Hershey's first professional golf tournament. Impressed with Hershey's golf courses, the PGA had encouraged Hershey to establish a tournament. Drawing some of the sport's best golfers with its $1,500 purse, the new tournament brought national attention to the community.

In 1943, the United States was in the midst of World War II when Hershey's 40th anniversary arrived. In deference to wartime restrictions, Hershey did not acknowledge this anniversary.

In 1953, Hershey reached the half-century mark. This time, the celebration was not confined to a single weekend. Instead, events were held throughout the year. In addition, the anniversary theme was incorporated into many community annual events such as the Halloween Parade, Dutch Days and the Hershey Rose Garden Tulip Festival.

Some of Hershey's special events for the year included hosting the National Figure Skating Championship at the Hershey Park Arena. This event brought the top amateur skaters and national attention to Hershey. Many special concerts were held in Hershey throughout the year, including performances by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, the United States Navy Band, which performed two concerts to an estimated crowd of 20,000 people and a headliner concert held in May featuring the Woody Herman and Louis Jordan orchestras with singers Frankie Laine and Ella Fitzgerald.

Knowledge, Skills, and Safety Training to be a Firefighter Never Ends

Training has always been an integral part of the Hershey Volunteer Fire Company. Fire Company records show that the first fire training drill was held on September 9, 1905, only ten days after the Company organized.

Today, weekly training sessions, or fire drills, are held every Monday evening. Additional training is held on weekends several times throughout the year. Weekly training sessions last around three hours and include classroom drills, tours of area buildings, and most often hands-on training with equipment and apparatus. Operation of the Company's fire apparatus requires specialized driver training. Fire Company members also participate in courses provided by The Pennsylvania State Fire Academy. The academy establishes the curriculum and accredits instructors to deliver these courses at the local level.

Currently, new firefighters begin their local level fire training with the Entry Level Firefighter curriculum consisting of four courses. Module I, Introduction to the Fire Service, is 16 hours and is designed to provide the entry-level firefighter with basic knowledge and skills to begin their fire service career.

Module II, Fireground Support, is a 48 hour course that prepares firefighters to handle fire ground and hazardous materials scene operations. It introduces new firefighters to basic information including fire behavior, portable fire extinguishers, water supply, fire hose and appliances, and hazardous materials.

Module III, Exterior Firefighter, is a 42 hour program covering exterior fire ground operations. Module IV, Interior Firefighter, is a 60 hour course involving fire service operations such as rescue, ventilation, fire suppression, and salvage.

After completing this introductory training, members then work towards a State Fire Fighter I certification, which is intensive training to meet standards set by the National Fire Protection Association. Firefighters that achieve this level of certification can then proceed to advance to Firefighter II certification.

Over one hundred additional specialized training courses are offered by local level state instructors. A number of fire company personnel have completed many of these programs such as truck operations, firefighter survival, incident command, and a rapid intervention.

This intensive training enables the Fire Company to provide the best possible fire protection and rescue services to the community.

Hershey Archives Time for a Party!

In June, a joint graduation ceremony was held for Hershey High School, Milton Hershey School and Hershey Junior College graduates. The town also came together on September 12 to celebrate Milton Hershey's birthday. The program highlight was a memorial concert performed by the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra and Chorus.

In October, Hershey was again in the national spotlight when a birthday party was held for President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The celebration included festivities in the Stadium and Arena, and a $100 a plate dinner was held in a large circus tent erected for the occasion.

By 1963, Hershey was beginning to change in response to the times. That year, plans for a new medical school and teaching hospital were announced, as was the future closing of Hershey Junior College. Hershey was beginning its transition from a traditional company town to one focused on serving a much broader public. As a result, the 60th anniversary was a more modest celebration.

Highlights of the celebration included the crowning of a Hershey Rose Queen, several sporting events and the anniversary publication of a Hershey information booklet.

The 1970s and 1980s were a period of rapid and often painful change in Hershey. The town discontinued its tradition of recognizing its decennial anniversaries. It wasn't until 2001 that the community came together to plan its centennial celebration. Unlike previous celebrations, this time, planning was conducted by a group of community leaders rather than the corporate entities. The corporate entities provided financial and logistical support.

Three major events were planned to celebrate this milestone. The celebration kicked off with the March 2 premiere of a new video, "Hershey, A Sweet Place to Call Home." The show included live performances by the Hershey Community Chorus and the Hershey Big Band. Following the first performance, attendees gathered on Chocolate Avenue to dedicate a Pennsylvania Historical Marker featuring the Hershey community.

In June, Hershey came together for a community-wide picnic. Held at Founders Park, it featured children's games, an art auction, live music and fireworks.

Hershey's centennial celebration concluded with a September 13 parade led by Grand Marshall Willard Scott. The parade featured both local and national performing groups, floats, equestrian groups and participation by Pennsylvania Governor Ed Rendell. The parade was broadcast live on WGAL-TV.

Since Hershey's centennial celebration, Hershey has taken the opportunity to celebrate the township's 275th anniversary in 2004 and Milton Hershey's 150th birthday in 2007.
