Over the past several years, the Township’s capital fund revenue has not been sufficient to cover the capital expenses. The Township was fortunate to have ample revenue in the general fund to subsidize the shortfall for the capital expenses. The Township’s capital fund expenses are for items that have long-term benefits such as buildings, renovations, infrastructure, equipment, and debt payments. The 2017 capital project fund was anticipated to be underfunded by $600,000 and it can no longer be sustained by the general fund.

Over the course of the last decade, the Township has been careful with its spending, reviewing expenses, making reductions, and seeking savings in every area possible. The operating budget is at the bare minimum that it can be and still allow the Township to function properly. James Negley, township manager said, “I review every line item in the budget and only approve funds for exactly what is needed. The directors have worked with me to provide the same level of service with less equipment and personnel than is needed. Proper facilities, equipment, and infrastructure must be maintained for safety, continued services, and the progression of our community.”

An analysis of the Township’s revenues and expenditures was conducted by consultants Public Financial Management (PFM) and they recommended that to provide for the Township’s capital needs and to adequately fund the Township’s debt service, the capital tax millage needs to be increased .5415 from .4502 to 0.9964. The increase is equivalent to $54.15 on each $100,000 of assessed home value.

“A tax increase is always a last measure and is only implemented when there is no other alternative to stabilize our financial state. Not taking the necessary actions to balance the Township’s budget would be irresponsible governing and would have detrimental consequences. It is essential to balance the budget and maintain a cash reserve to keep the Township’s excellent bond rating, which allows the Township to acquire favorable interest rates for bond financing,” said Negley.

The Township’s capital real estate tax has been able to be maintained at the same level for 21 years. The Derry Township Board of Supervisors has taken the necessary action to ensure that the Township’s financial future is secure and that the Township can continue on a path to increase the general fund reserve.

The Township’s expenses are in line with other municipalities comparable in size to Derry Township, yet the township’s real estate tax is lower than many surrounding communities. Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, John Foley said, “The cost to operate the Township and service the debt continues to increase year after year. We’ve done as much cost reductions and restructuring and put off an increase in taxes for as long as we could. It was not sustainable to continue to pull from the general fund to service capital projects. This was a hard decision for the Board, but it was the right action to take.”

The management and budget consulting team for PFM developed a multi-year financial plan for the Township. They provided a dynamic planning tool to map anticipated expenses and revenues to see how the numbers will affect the overall budget. “This budgetary tool will assist the Township in future planning and in looking at the Township’s long-term needs,” added Foley.
Derry Township received two awards in the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisor’s (PSATS) 49th Annual Township Citizen Communication Contest. The annual contest recognizes townships that have successfully communicated news, services, and events to its citizens.

Derry received first place for its eNews and tied for third place for its quarterly Township News in the electronic newsletters category.

This year, 36 townships submitted 103 entries to the competition. Entries were judged on the usefulness of information presented, how well the information was communicated to residents, and the overall attractiveness and readability.

“The Township strives to maintain effective communication with residents through our electronic weekly eNews, quarterly newsletter, website, Facebook, and Twitter pages. We encourage everyone to subscribe to the weekly e-newsletter and quarterly newsletter on our website and to follow the Township on social media for timely news, events, and important updates,” said Township Supervisor Vice-Chairwoman Susan Cort.

“In addition to Township news, events and services, the eNews is a source of information on special events happening throughout the community,” she added. Solar Energy and Curtailment Savings to Fund New Energy Efficient Equipment and Cost Reducing Measures

The Derry Township Board of Supervisors entered a 20-year agreement with Coral Reef Partners, LLC for an Energy Savings Program which entails the installation of solar panels in the area between the Municipal Complex and Hersheypark Drive, and Peak Load Contribution and Network Service Peak Load curtailment software to reduce electric usage during periods of grid peak demand.

The energy cost savings will be utilized for an estimated $300,000 in capital projects that include replacing the HVAC RTU controls and replacing the HVAC rooftop units for the Municipal Complex, replacing the HVAC in the Police Department Command Room, and upgrading the system software. The initiative does not require any out-of-pocket expenses for the Township and estimates $130,000 in savings from the solar power. The solar panels will produce 10% of the Township’s 3,168,000 kWh annual usage. The plan aims to reduce energy usage by 25%, capacity charges by 35%, and transmission charges by 5%.

The energy efficient measures include insulating and sealing air leaks in the walkways between the buildings, installing LED lights, reducing usage, and alterations to the fans in the Tax Office.

Experienced Equipment Operator Paves Way to Retirement

Over the course of his 22-year career with Derry Township, Tom Brazell has paved miles of roadway in Derry Township. He was hired by the Department of Public Works in January 1994 and became an equipment operator in 2001. He was responsible for maintaining the roadways in safe condition, and removing snow and debris following weather related incidents. He took the lead in the parts room inventory and was instrumental in the landscaping around the Township’s facilities.

Tom was serious about his job responsibilities, but was always one to joke around with. Tom Clark, Director of Public Works said, “Tom has been a great asset to the Public Works Department over the years and an important member of our paving team. His background in environmental issues has been very helpful to the Township in monitoring the landfill.” Tom said, “He’s really been missed in the short time since his retirement.”

His retirement was effective on December 22, 2016. He will anxiously await warmer weather so that he can enjoy more camping and fishing with his new free time.

Test Your Home for Radon

The Department of Environmental Protection urges homeowners to test their homes for radon. Radon is a colorless, odorless gas that comes from the ground and it is the second leading cause of lung cancer deaths in the United States.

The winter months are the best time to test radon levels when windows and doors are closed. High levels of radon in a home can be easily mitigated by a contractor. The Township has radon test kits available for purchase at the Administration Building, Parks and Recreation, and the Library, for $7.42.

The test kit is suspended at the lowest level of the home for three days, is sealed, and mailed to a laboratory, which will mail the test results to the homeowner. It’s quick, easy, and inexpensive to test.

Records Manager Retires From the Police Department with 25 Years of Service

Most organizations have that one person who holds everything together and is the go-to person. Linda Walker was that very talented person for the Derry Township Police Department. Linda was hired in October 1991 to provide administrative support to the Police Department. Since the start of her employment she was a dedicated and hard worker.

She was always ready to take on a challenge and willing to take extra work to complete a project or meet a deadline. She was an intricate part of the administrative team and had a great knowledge of the records system and ability to enhance efficiency. She was promoted to the Records Manager in 2010, overseeing the records department.

Her skill set was an asset to the department during times of transition and disasters. She had coordinated the documentation of losses and replacement of items that were destroyed by the flooding caused by Tropical Storm Lee.

Chief Garth Warner said, “Linda has witnessed the department go through many changes, and with her help, has evolved into the professional agency that it is today.”

Prior to her retirement on October 21st, Linda worked with Leslie Fuller, the department’s Accreditation Manager, to take over her position following her retirement.

Outside Agencies Recognize the Talent in Derry Township’s Police Department

We know that members of our Police Department are hard-working and possess expertise in many areas, and now their special talents are being sought by other organizations. Detective Matthew Dotts handles cyber related crimes for the Derry Township Police Department. He has specialized in this area of investigative work and has made a name for himself. Dotts is being assigned to the FBI’s Regional Criminal Cyber Squad Task Force on a part-time, as needed basis. Chief Garth Warner said, “Matt’s expertise in computer and cybercrime is being sought by many agencies in the area and the FBI reached out to our department to ask for his participation on the Task Force for this region.”

Detective Sergeant Greg Day, a member of Dauphin County Crisis Response Team (DCCRT), has been promoted to the position of Assistant Commander of the Dauphin County CRT. Hershey High School to Compete in Recyclebank’s Green Schools Program

Hershey High School was selected again this year to compete in the Recyclebank Green Schools Program. This year’s project is on Wind Turbines. They need you to donate your Recyclebank points to purchase a wind tunnel.

The students’ project is to teach other middle school and high school students about wind power as a renewable energy option and the physics of efficient wind turbine blade design. The project will include a friendly design competition on turbine blades. The turbine blades will be tested in the wind tunnel purchased with the grant. They need to raise $2,200 to purchase the wind tunnel.

Visit https://www.recyclebank.com/contest/index/school/id/233/ and donate your points today to help fund a wind tunnel to provide a consistent testing environment that will be used years into the future.
Detective David Melhorn will take 26 years of experience with the Derry Township Police Department to the Penn State Milton S. Hershey Medical Center as their Security Manager.

Melhorn was named detective in 2001 in the Criminal Investigative Unit and served as a polygraph examiner for the department. He specialized in crimes against children and was a member of the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement Child Exploitation Task Force. He worked closely with other law enforcement agencies on the local, state, and federal levels.

He is known to have exceptional decision making skills and is a thorough investigator. His talents and contributions earned him many commendations throughout his career.

He was an original member of the department's Speed Enforcement Team and served as a firearms instructor, K-9 officer, and a member of the Bicycle Patrol Unit. He has been an asset in forming relationships with other organizations and members of the community.

Chief Garth Warner said, “Dave has been our lead investigator in the area of child-related abuses and crimes for the last several years. He was also one of the Department's polygraphists, and was heavily involved in the Firearms Unit as an instructor and armorer. The knowledge and expertise he has acquired over the years will be a challenge for the department to fill.”

The Department of Public Work’s Curb and Sidewalk Improvement Program assists homeowners with the repair of public sidewalks. The program makes it easier and less expensive to have the repairs made.

The Township coordinates the repairs between the contractor and all of the participating property owners, therefore receiving a lower cost because of the collective volume of the work that is competitively bid. The Township oversees the engineering and performs inspections of the work to ensure that the construction is done in accordance with the Township’s requirements.

The Township encourages all property owners who have sidewalks or curbs that are in need of repairs to participate in this program. Please call the Public Works Department at 533-2057, option 4, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., for additional information, or to sign up for the 2017 Curb/Sidewalk Program. The deadline for participation is March 31st.

- Clean your grill and inspect all gas tanks and hose connections.

Awards and Recognition

Every year the membership of HVFC selects a member who best exemplifies what volunteering in the fire service is all about. This award not only recognizes the commitment to “calls for assistance,” but their commitment to training and the many hours of public service, non-emergency details and activities. The Hershey Fire Department is proud to announce this year’s recipient of the Richard B. Rudisill Volunteer Firefighter of the Year award is Joel Confer.

Firefighter Confer became a member of the Hershey Volunteer Fire Company in September 2015 and was one of the quickest probationary members to complete his initial firefighter module classes at the Harrisburg Area Community College.

Joel is currently preparing to take his Firefighter-I exam and truly demonstrates the meaning of being a volunteer firefighter. Congratulations, Joel. Thank you for serving our community. Job well done!

Properties come in all shapes and sizes, but when it comes to stormwater the common link between all properties is the amount of impervious area present. Impervious area is any surface which inhibits infiltration of rainfall into the soil. This includes pavement (asphalt, concrete, etc.), rooftops, patios, sidewalks, and compacted graveled surfaces such as parking areas and driveways. Numerous studies have shown that impervious area is a strong indicator of both the quantity and quality of stormwater. Therefore, to make a property more stormwater friendly, one would want to find ways to reduce the volume of stormwater that leaves the property as well as reduce the amount of pollutants that leave with that stormwater. To accomplish these goals, it's wise to first determine the current condition of your property.

A good first place to start is to obtain an aerial photo of your property. This can be done with free online programs like Google Maps or the Dauphin County Parcel Viewer online interactive map. With the aerial photograph in hand, you can start identifying the impervious area on your property and get a visual on how close the impervious areas are to things like the street, stormwater inlets, or other means of stormwater conveyance. If you can’t find an aerial photo, you can just sketch out your property on a piece of paper. You won’t be graded on artistic ability, so don’t let that hold you back.

Next you’ll want to determine the pathways water is flowing off your impervious surfaces. Roofs usually have gutters and downspouts, so that’s a good place to start. Look where the downspout discharges and see where the water will flow from there. Pay particular attention to whether the water is flowing across your lawn or other landscaping, or if it’s flowing onto your driveway or other impermeable surface. A downspout discharging directly or close to an impervious surface that could direct the water off your property could be a good candidate for something like a rain barrel or a downspout extender that directs the water onto the lawn or landscaping instead of the street, giving it time to infiltrate into the soil. If downspouts are already discharging into your lawn or landscaping and have a nice buffer to conveyance features, then you don’t want to spend time and money fixing what isn’t broken.

Once you’ve identified areas on your property that could be potential candidates for stormwater improvements, you’ll need to determine what types of improvements might be appropriate. To get your mind thinking, items like rain barrels or cisterns, conservation landscaping, tree planting, rain gardens, permeable hardscapes, and dry wells might be potential options. You could also look at some practices that reduce what’s already there, such as removing unwanted impervious areas (such as an underused patio) or limiting the amount of fertilizer you apply to your lawn. There are many things that can be done, and it will depend on your site-specific conditions and budget. A great place to start is by reading the Homeowner Guide For a More Bay-Friendly Property at http://chesapeakestormwater.net/be-bay-friendly/assessing-your-property/, provided by the Chesapeake Stormwater Network. The Chesapeake Stormwater Network has many resources on their website that can help you achieve a Stormwater-Friendly Property!
 Welcoming Spring in Hershey: Easter Flower Shows

In the depths of winter, it can be hard to imagine that the weather will ever turn warm again. Gardens lie dormant and everyone eagerly waits for the return of spring, with trees budding and spring flowers bringing color to our yards and gardens.

During Milton Hershey's lifetime, the community greenhouses and conservatories provided an opportunity to escape the cold winter months. The conservatories were open year-round and were a popular destination in the winter months. The Hershey Press provided detailed reports of the flora displayed in the greenhouses. During the colder months the greenhouses were filled with palms, rubber trees, and ferns that were placed in Hershey Park during the warm weather months. People were invited to visit and enjoy the warm air and lush greenery.

The conservatories were also used for a special display each spring. During the Easter season, the conservatories presented flower shows. First held in Milton Hershey's private greenhouse in 1909, the displays grew more elaborate each year and expanded as new conservatories were built.

The Easter displays quickly became an annual tradition in Hershey. The event, initially held on Easter afternoon and later expanding the entire week before Easter, drew thousands of people to see elaborate displays of spring blooms and other flowers.

The fifth annual Easter Flower Show was held in 1913, the town's 10th anniversary. Both conservatories were opened for visitors on Easter Day from noon to 6 p.m. The flower variety was impressive, including Chinese baby primroses, California poppies, red African daisies, lilies and cyclamens, as well as hundreds of tulips, hyacinths, and daffodils. In addition to the elaborate floral exhibits, guests were treated to the fun of seeing tropical birds, fish and even the zoo's alligators who were housed in one of the conservatories.

The show was enlarged in 1914 with the addition of a new conservatory located in the Hershey Zoo. The lower level of this conservatory served as winter quarters for several zoo animals.

In 1917, the show was further expanded when the old laundry (future Zoo entrance building) was repurposed as a Horticultural Hall.

The show was discontinued in 1918 due to World War I, and it was not reestablished for several years. In 1930, Hershey constructed a new expansive greenhouse on the corner of East Mansion Road and Derry Road. With the new structure, Hershey was inspired to reestablish the Easter Show tradition. It is uncertain when it was restarted. The first reference to the revived Easter Flower show appears in a 1935 issue of the Hotel Hershey Highlights. The article also mentioned the success of the 1934 show.

The Flower Shows continued throughout the 1930s. The last show was held in 1942 and was discontinued the following year because of wartime restrictions.

ANGEL’S REVENGE

Monday, April 3
6:00 p.m.

This A Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) survey showed that one in four female soldiers experienced sexual harassment, or sexual assault during their time in the military. The problem is growing because female veterans represent the military’s fastest-growing population with an estimated 2.2 million, or ten percent of the country’s veterans.

Using his experience from the military, including eight years in the Pentagon, Don Helin will be here with us to discuss one of his recent books, Angel’s Revenge. It is a military thriller that explosively explores the high cost of sexual assault in the military, which elevates his novel to a level seldom seen in the thriller genre. It is timely and terrific. Books will be sold and signed at the event.

Registration is preferred either online at www.hersheylibrary.org, or by calling the Circulation Desk at 533-6555.

19TH ANNUAL NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK AUTHOR VISIT

Presented by Friends of the Hershey Public Library

GUEST AUTHOR RICHARD FORD

Sunday, April 9, 2017 2:00 p.m.

Born in Jackson, Mississippi in 1944, Richard Ford grew up between there and Little Rock, Arkansas, and is a graduate of Michigan State University. After college, he spent one uncomfortable semester in law school at Washington University in St. Louis before finding his way to the University of California, Irvine, where, under the tutelage of Oakley Hall and E.L. Doctorow, he earned an MFA in writing. A member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, Ford has taught at Williams, Princeton, Harvard, Northwestern, and at Bowdoin College. His writing has appeared in The New York Times, Esquire, Granta, Le Monde, and The New Yorker, among other magazines and journals.

In person, Ford’s voice is similarly impressive; his Mississippi beginnings yield a generosity of spirit, a honed eccentricity, and an absolute abhorrence of pretension. He is warm, open, accessible, and brings a career-long repertoire of distinctive, insightful and witty ruminations to life. Ford’s first two novels, A Piece of My Heart and The Ultimate Good Luck were both met with critical success. Recognized for his “immaculate” dialogue, “confident and rich” story-telling, and “piercingly clear” prose, Ford quickly established himself as one of the great American writers of our time, according to The New York Times. In addition to his beloved novels, Ford has penned three collections of short stories. It was his third novel, The Sportswriter that launched Ford from a critical darling to a household name. The novel introduced readers to protagonist Frank Bascombe, a New Jersey novelist turned sportswriter turned real estate agent—who would reappear in the sequels Independence Day, and The Lay of the Land. Twenty years in the making, his 2012 novel Canada is a visionary tale of vast landscapes, complex identities and fragile humanity. It questions the fine line between the normal and the extraordinary, and the moments that haunt our settled view of the world.

In 2014, Ford delighted readers by revisiting his beloved narrator Frank Bascombe, after nearly a decade. A finalist for the 2015 Pulitzer Prize for Fiction, Let Me Be Frank With You is comprised of four novellas narrated by Bascombe and set against the backdrop of Hurricane Sandy. The New York Times calls it “an apt vitrine for Mr. Ford’s talents: his journalistic eye for the revealing detail, his knack for tracing the connections between the public and the personal, his gift for capturing the precariousness of daily life.” In 2017, readers will have the chance to see these same talents on display in Ford’s first memoir, Between Them. Due out in spring, the book will be the memoir of Ford’s mother and father.

Books will be sold and signed at the event.

All of the programs listed above are free. However, registration is necessary either online at www.hersheylibrary.org, or by calling the Circulation Desk at 533-6555.
